GRAMMAR FOCUS

- Let's go over some examples and rules for the following topics:
 - Personal Pronouns, Possessive Adjectives, Demonstratives.
 - Use of the verb To Be and There + Be.
 - Sentence structures to describe roles (e.g., "I'm a website developer".)

Examples from texts and dialogues in Module #1.

I'm a software developer.

My name is Natasha.

What's your name?

His job is ...

Hi, this is Ingrid.

It is important for the team...

1. I → Personal Pronoun

2. My, your, his → Possessive Adjectives

3. This → Demonstrative Pronouns

4. 'm / is → Verb To Be

When do you use personal pronouns, possessive adjectives, and demonstratives?

- Personal pronouns (I, you, he, she, etc.) are used to replace nouns and refer to people or things.
- Possessive adjectives (my, your, his, her, etc.) show ownership or relationships.
- Demonstrative Pronouns (this, that, these, those) point to specific people or things, depending on their number (singular/plural) and distance (near/far).

Personal Pronouns	I	I am a developer.
	You	Are you the client?
	He	He is the Scrum Master.
	She	She is new in the project.
	It	It is the daily Scrum meeting.
	We	We are the development team.
	They	They are from Argentina.

Possessive Adjective	My	My task is to test the product.
	Your	Your meeting starts at 9 a.m.
	His	His plan is in the backlog.
	Her	Her goal is clear.
	Its	Its name is Daily Stand-up.
	Our	Our client is very happy.
	Their	Their sprint ends on Friday.

Personal Pronoun
+
Verb
I + am

Possessive Adjective
+
Noun
My name

Demonstrative Pronouns	This (Singular/Near)	This is Ingrid.
	That (Singular/Far)	That is the old product.
	These (Plural/Near)	These are the tasks for this sprint.
	Those (Plural/Far)	Those are last week's backlog items.

We use be to say who somebody is or what something is.	I'm Sam.	I am Sam.
	You're/We're/They're from the UK.	You/ We/They are from the UK.
	He's/She's a website developer.	He/She is a website developer.
	It's in the US.	It is in the US.
We use be to ask personal questions.	Where are you from?
	What's his name/job?	What is his name/job?

VERB TO BE

Important structures:
A scrum master is in charge of (V+ing)
He/She is responsible for (V+ing) ...

You can also use the verb To Be in a common phrase to describe people's duties.

What is a duty?

It's a task or action that one is required to perform as part of one's job.

Examples:

A front-end web developer is in charge of making sure that there are no errors or bugs on the front end.

A front-end web developer is responsible for making sure that the design appears as it's supposed to across various platforms and browsers.

There + Be

*Let's pay attention to the following structure in English.
This is used to talk about 'existence'.*

Structure	Example
Affirmative	There is a task in the backlog. There are many developers.
Negative	There isn't a meeting today. There aren't any clients now.
Yes/No Questions	Is there a sprint this week? Are there tasks to do?
Wh- Questions	What is there in the backlog? How many tasks are there?

Are you ready to practice?

04

Written Production

In this section, we'll guide you through the process of writing. First, we'll introduce you to a short model that you can use as an example. Then, you'll write some sentences from the prompts given and finally, you will write your own dialogue.

4.1 STEP 1: Read the Model

A: Hello! I am Julia. I am the Scrum Master.

B: Hi Julia. I am Leo. I am the tester. I am from Brazil.

A: Nice to meet you!

B: Nice meeting you, too!

A: Look, this is our sprint board. It is very important for our meetings.

B: Great! Are there any tasks for today?

A: Yes, there are! There is a new task in the backlog.

B: Perfect. Let's start! Who are the people in the team?

A: There are five people in the team and that is the meeting room.

B: OK. Today's work is on the login page.

A: Are there any problems we need to concentrate on?

B: Yes, there is a bug in the system. Let's check this in our next meeting.

A: Of course. Thank you for coming today. See you next week.

B: Thanks. See you.

STEP 2: Read the prompts

1. Fill in the blanks with your personal information. You can also invent!

1. Hello! My name is _____.
2. I am from _____.
3. I am _____ years old.
4. I am a _____ (role).
5. This is my colleague _____.
6. We are in a/an _____.
7. There are _____ in the team.
8. Today's work is on _____.

Step 3: Write Your Own Dialogue

3. Use the prompts for Student A and Student B to write the dialogue.

Student A

Student B

- | | | |
|---|---|---|
| - Greet your teammate | → | - Say hello and ask about your teammate's name and role. |
| - Say your name and your role | | - Say where you are from and ask your classmate where he/she is from. |
| - Say where you are from and ask about the people in the team | ← | - Reply with information from the team |
| - Reply if there are problems. | ← | - Ask if there are problems |
| - End the conversation | → | - Say goodbye and finish the conversation |

A large pink rectangular area with a torn right edge, containing eight horizontal lines for writing a dialogue.

05

Speaking Production

In this section, we are going to practice speaking in the specific context of Daily Scrum meetings.

5.1 Personal Presentation

1. Imagine you have to introduce yourself to a team.

Use the following phrases to give as much detail as possible.

Hello!

My name is ... I am years old. I am from

I am a/anin company.

There are people in my team.

Our client is He/She is from....

*Use the verb to be in your presentation.
Speak clearly and try not to read.*

SCRUM Meeting in Pairs.

Practice the model dialogue from the previous section (STEP 1: Writing Production)

2. Work in pairs. Student A is Julia. Student B is a Leo.

Include other questions:

- Where are you from?
- What do you do?
- How old are you?
- Are you a software developer?
- Is this your first daily scrum meeting?

Rotate roles so both students speak.

5.2 Oral Assessment:

Record your oral practice session and submit it for feedback.

Use: vocaroo.com

Guidelines:

- Click the red record button.
- Record the dialogue or presentation.
- When you finish, click stop, then save & share.
- Copy the link and submit it through the class platform in:
 - ASSIGNMENT Module °1.

💡 If you don't know how to use it, check on this video Tutorial.

Assessment Rubric: Module 1
